"Love shatters the chains that keep us isolated and separate... Love enables us to create one great family, where all of us can feel at home."

— Pope Francis in Fratelli Tutti #62
Dear Friends,

It was Fall, 1984 when I was awakened to the reality of being part of a global sisterhood. Living in a large convent with 15 Sisters from six different countries, I was finishing graduate studies at St Bonaventure Univ in Olean, NY. Oh, the expressions I learned, the foods I enjoyed, the customs I experienced, the prayers I shared. The greatest gift of all was the growing realization that I was part of a profound spirit of religious life all around the world. When the semester ended, realizing we would probably never meet again, we signed and shared a card promising to remember each other and our congregations across the miles.

Today I value those signatures and feel connected with the people of Malawi, India, Australia, Scotland, England, and Vietnam.

In this issue, we celebrate how we are part of a great global Sisterhood of over 700,000 Sisters from hundreds of congregations worldwide. Sisters have always been an international force delivering mercy, being living signs of mercy, advocating for mercy wherever we are. Now Catholic Sisters are more clearly claiming their common global Sisterhood through greater collaboration, communication, and communion with each other. Enjoy learning how we Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help are part of this Global Sisterhood.

For weeks we have been praying in preparation:

- Highest, brightest God, Enlighten the darkness of our hearts
- Give us faith that leads us on, hope that carries us through
- and love that excludes no one and nothing.

Lift our hearts and free us to sing a new song for Earth and your people.

If you hear shouts of joy and prayer, if you hear lament for the pain in the world, if you sense a stirring of hope this June, it just might be coming from us. We ask that you pray for our Sisters as we assemble, for safe travel and for the Spirit to burst forth among us. And trust that you, our family, friends and supporters, will be with us in spirit as we gather and lift our common heart in a new song.

The Franciscan Spirit is a free, monthly, digital newsletter with print editions twice a year published in Kirkwood, MO, by the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. To be added to the distribution list, email info@folph.org or call (314) 965-3700 with your choice of email and/or print mail. Back issues of the printed magazine can be viewed on our website at www.folph.org/newsletter.

OUR CHARISM: The Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help strive to be prayerful women of faith, prophetic vision and courage. Discerning God’s will within the Church, we dedicate our lives to witnessing the Gospel compassionately and joyfully.

OUR FRANCISCAN MISSION: To be a transforming presence in society through witnessing Gospel values. Faithful to our charism in the mission of the Church, we prophetically respond to the needs of contemporary society. As compassionate women alive in the spirit, we enable and empower others to live the Gospel with hope and joy.
We plan to gather in June for a spirited week of sharing, reminiscing, and laughter. We will join in prayer, discernment, and discussion over topics related to our future as a Community. This wonderful week will culminate with the celebration of Jubilee (the anniversaries of our Sisters’ first profession of vows). We joyfully congratulate our 2022 Jubilarians:

Celebrating 60 Years

Sister Angelita Laws, OSF
Sister Angelita was born in Monroe, LA, and earned a BA from Marillac College and a Master’s from Webster Univ, both in St Louis, MO. Sister taught in schools in St Louis, and in Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Texas, and Louisiana. In Louisiana, she was named Teacher of the Year for her work as a math instructor and also served as a principal. Recently, Sister ministered as a volunteer at Little Flower Parish in Monroe, LA. Upon retiring to St Louis, she serves her community as a minister of prayer.

“Gratitude is the sole joy of my jubilee. I give thanks and praise for the opportunities afforded me to serve God and honor our Founding Sisters.”

Sister Joann Nowak, OSF
Sister Joann was born in Washington, and grew up in Crown Point, both in Missouri. She earned a BA from Marillac College and a Master’s from Dayton University. She ministered as a volunteer in St Louis, Louisiana, North Dakota, Ohio, and Illinois, with a focus as a Homeless Services Director for Room on the Inn and ministered to the poor in Southern Maryland and West Virginia. Sister also assisted on an invitation to Catholicity’s Leadership Team and as its Director of Mission Advancement. Currently, Sr. Joann continues to minister to others through Senior Home Care with VISIT Angels.

“I love You, O Lord…my Rock…my Shield.”—Psalms 18:2-3

Sister Marlene Geppert, OSF
Sister Marlene was born in St Louis, MO, and raised on a farm in rural Nashville, IL. She holds a BA from Marillac College in St Louis and a Master’s in Religious Education from Creighton University, as well as a certificate in Franciscan Spirituality, Spiritual Direction, and Principal Strategies. She ministered as educator in several schools throughout the St Louis region and in West Virginia, Illinois, Nebraska, and Louisiana. Sister also served on her community’s leadership Team in Carbondale, IL, and as a Volunteer Director as Spiritual Director, and was most recently Asst Director of Il Natio Retreat Center in Dittmer, MO. She continues walking with others as a spiritual director. In Holy Spirit fills our heart with peace and joy; however, peace doesn’t come from finding a lake with turtle turtles. Becomes from having Jesus in the Pool.” —John Ortberg

Sister Theresie Flerlase, OSF
Sister Theresie was born in St Charles, MO, earned a BA from Marillac College and a Master’s from St Louis University. She ministered in education in the St Louis area at Holy Ghost School, St Adalbert School, and Our Lady of Guadalupe School. Sister also served in the states of New Mexico, Louisiana, Indiana, and Illinois. Sister ministered as Faith Formation Director at St Cecilia Parish in Glen Carbon, IL, and at Saints Peter and Paul in Collinsville, IL. Sister is a lifelong Cardinals fan and continues to faithfully follow her team. She is retired in St Louis and serves others through her ministry of prayer.

“I give thanks to my God through Jesus Christ for all of you!” —Romans 1:8

Sister Mary Kathleen Lehmuth, OSF
Sister Georgette Lehmuth, and SOAR! Development Director Elizabeth Góral-Makowski.
Times are changing. We are changing. No longer have hundreds of young Sisters across the country, physically able to minister directly to those in need. Yet we want to continue fulfilling our mission and charism—to continue the work of the Bordered Communities. Where lay people work for peace, justice, and hope... Franciscan Mission Service (FMS) prepares Franciscans for ministry to the world's poor. According to the website and in Africa. They are one of the only lay Franciscan mission programs in North America. Being a partner with FMS is a partnership that defines their approach to mission. The tree itself symbolizes the growth, transformation, and life that flow from Christ's love at work in the world, as well as the overall Franciscan commitment to the integrity of all creation. In a recent thank you letter, Director Elizabeth Hughes wrote, “We are happy to list the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help as a supporter on our website. Because of your generosity, our missioners are sharing God’s love in solidarity with sisters and brothers throughout the world—all in the spirit of St. Francis.”

For more than 100 years, the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help have been educators. Perhaps as you read this you are saying, “Yes, the Sisters taught me.” Through the years, being professionally trained has been a high priority for women religious. To lead others, teach others, serve others, and be a prophetic voice and Gospel presence, Sisters needed to be educated. Sisters often sacrificed to assure their members received a quality education. 99% of our current Sisters have Bachelor degrees and 70% have Master degrees. This is not the case in developing countries. Between 2000 and 2010, the number of Sisters in the United States decreased by 26%, while the number of Sisters in Africa increased by 26%. Providing education for all these new members is difficult; there are few financial resources in these congregations and access to colleges and universities is limited. Meanwhile needs in developing countries are growing exponentially. Union International Superiors General (USSG) in Rome, has leaders representing more than 1,900 congregations worldwide. Through our membership in the following programs, we educate Sisters who will make a global impact by mobilizing young people, improving health conditions, and addressing justice issues. This is stewarding the future through education in a new way.

Our Franciscan mission to enable and empower others is being realized through our support of these programs. We are educating those who will empower our sisters and brothers in Africa. What a wonderful web of interconnection God is weaving in our world. We are grateful you walk beside us in our support of efforts and commitment to tend the heart of the world through our global sisterhood.

Connections & Collaborations

The Covering House provides therapeutic recovery services to child survivors of sex trafficking in a residential facility and in client homes. They also work with youth and adults in the community to provide counseling, educational and supportive services.

In a letter acknowledging our donation they wrote, "Wow. Your donation will help us provide a customized education program for our youth at Covering House. Trauma has made education difficult for these young people. One youth recently said, ‘I’ll be the first person in my family to graduate from high school because of this place.’”

Supporting Covering House is another way we are a transforming presence and continue our commitment to education. To learn more, visit https://www.thecoveringhouse.org/

Our Future: Tending the Heart of the World... through Education

All-Africa Conference: Sister to Sister

All-Africa Conference: Sister to Sister was formed in 2002 following a meeting between a group of African and North American Theologians who were attending a conference at the Yale Divinity School. Religious women are key healthcare providers, educators, and counselors in sub-Saharan Africa. More than that, Sisters are key pastoral ministers in the communities where they serve, offering spiritual guidance and support.

Sister to Sister supports educational and pastoral programs in Cameroon, Malawi, Nigeria, Uganda, Zambia, and Zimbabwe. https://allafrique-sistertosister.org/

We are grateful you walk beside us in our support of efforts and commitment to tend the heart of the world through our global sisterhood.
Online via Zoom and at Tau Center too!

Please consider joining the Sisters for one or all of our uplifting and educational events. We hope to host hybrid group this fall—live groups at Tau Center along with on-line attendance via Zoom! If you are not in the St Louis area, consider gathering a group somewhere with wifi and a big screen, or join us from home on your computer or smartphone! No matter how you plan to attend, SIGN UP NOW using the “Events” portal on our website, www.fsolph.org/events, if attending via Zoom, watch for a return email containing the Zoom link and mark it/save it in a safe place. Click that link (10-15 minutes early usually works best) to join at the time of the event. Discussions and Q&A follow our presentations. We will try to send email reminders, although we have had challenges with our past email.
We hope to see you either at Tau Center or via Zoom!

Chris Wimmer, of Known & Grown STL, to discuss the impact of what we choose to eat

In July of 2019, Chris Wimmer joined the Food & Farm team, a part of the Missouri Coalition for the Environment (MCE), as the Known & Grown Farm Specialist. Chris was born and raised in St Louis, and always dreamed of becoming a farmer. He earned a BS in Agronomy from the University of Missouri-Columbia. Eager to combine his passion for environmental stewardship and growing food, Chris founded The Farm at Knut Run in 1995. The farm produced organic vegetables and meat sold locally through a community Supported Agriculture program, farmers markets, and local restaurants. The farm’s hands-on educational field trips were designed to impress on visitors the importance of enhancing nature while producing food responsibly. In 2017, MCE sponsored a trip to the farm that introduced Chris to the effective environmental work they have been doing for the last 50 years. He is excited to join the newly formed Known and Grown Team, and to share his desire to expand the availability of locally grown, organic, and humanely raised food.

Known & Grown STL works to build a resilient food community by supporting farmers located within 150 miles of St Louis who use sustainable practices.

Can your investments make a real difference? Recent studies on Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) issues are showing definite impacts on corporations, and their bottom lines, and for the bottom lines of the investors! This discussion will not only focus on the moral impact of investing, but also on how you are saving money in the short and long term. You will learn why most Investor Services are now offering ESG choices, and how you and future generations will benefit. We will see why ESG is here to stay…and how you can make a difference.

Barbara Jennings was born in St Louis and is a member of the Sisters of St Joseph of Carondelet. She has an impressive and diverse resume that includes teaching at the high school level, working in social justice and eventually ministering for a dozen years at Midwest Coalition for Responsible Investment, monitoring the shareholder activity of MCI members in companies such as American Outdoor Brands (Smith & Wesson), Chevron, Conoco Phillips, Emerson, etc. She has served as Lead on Ameren, Boeing, and Monsanto. Barbara recently completed a year as a Teaching Fellow at Fontbonne University; now her dream is to guide the University further into Socially Responsible Investment and ESG curriculum.

Here in southwest Wisconsin, spring has finally arrived. It took a while to get out into the garden due to rain falling every other day or so for weeks, but we were finally blessed with a dry stretch that made it possible to prepare the soil. As soon as I could, I started meticulously shaping raised rows in an east-west orientation, among the soil with rich compost and organic fertilizer, then leveling and grooming the surface of each 30-inch-wide bed. The wind blew consistently and strongly from the south, bringing unusually warm temperatures with it. The dairies cows across the road watched me with what seemed like amusement as I labored joyfully in the hot sun. It was tiring, peaceful, gratifying work.

One of my favorite early crops is sugar snap peas. They do best when trellised, and it sure makes it easier to pick the peas, too! I used a heavy pounder to drive tall metal posts into the center of the bed I wanted to plant them in, but then I came to an impasse. How to move a 16-foot-long x 50-inch-high cattle panel (a type of fencing with a large square grid onto the tidy bed alone)? There was no easy way. While they aren’t very heavy, trying to wrangle something that long and awkward by myself surely would have damaged the bed and the one next to it to boot, and wiring the panel to the posts without someone to hold it in place would have been a challenge, as well.

Fortunately, the answer lives next door in the person of a kind, hardworking man named Eric. He was more than happy to help, and with the two of us, it was a piece of cake—done in 5 minutes and with the beds no worse for the wear. We discussed who does justice to the label of “neighbor.” I sent him a text asking if he could give me a hand. He was more than happy to help, and with the two of us, it was a piece of cake—done in 5 minutes and with the beds no worse for the wear. We discussed how to position the panel, deciding together how it would work best.

Did I mention that Eric is and are on opposite ends of the political spectrum, and that in terms of life history, we share almost no similarities? But over time, we have developed a friendship based on what we DO have in common—a love of God and of being out in nature, passion for growing things and for birdwatching, consternation at some of the problems of the day (even if we don’t agree about how to solve them), a fondness (okay, an obsession) with the Green Bay Packers, and a willingness to see past our differences.

Putting up a cattle panel together was a minor thing—no big deal, right? But as Fr Richard Rohr is fond of saying “In your world and how you do everything.” Following that logic, this simple example of collaboration—joining with another to accomplish something—inclines our hearts and homes our skills for bigger efforts. Collaboration, big or small, requires humility and a commitment to working at relationships. It means being willing to set aside our agenda and allow others ahead of our own agenda. We need grace, courage and trust to give up power or control. We have to be present enough to see that our similarities as children of God are infinitely more important than any labels, politics, or experiences that might divide us.

Scripture makes it clear that God is a fan of collaboration. Remember, it was not good that the man should be alone (Genesis 2), he sent them out two-by-two (Luke 10; Mark 6), and we are all brothers (and sisters) and we have but one Father (who is, mysteriously, THREE in ONE!) (Matthew 23).

So, the next time you work together with someone, don’t downplay its significance. Thank the Holy Spirit for leading you there. The more we practice and encourage daily collaborations, being neighborhood despite our differences and “reaching across the aisle,” the better prepared we’ll be to tackle on issues that are too big for any one person or organization. Problems like hunger, violence, human trafficking and climate change can only be dealt with collaboratively and cooperatively—Together.

Help us further our Gospel Mission:

1. Call us with your latest contact info. We are working to update our mailing list with emails and phone #s.

2. Change to Amazon Smile. Update your regular Amazon account and designate the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help as your beneficiary. Each time you shop, Amazon will donate 0.5% of your purchase price to the Sisters.

3. In lieu of funeral flowers, send a Perpetual Membership of Prayer. Members share in the graces of a monthly Eucharist Celebration, and in the daily prayers and good works of each of our Sisters. For this $25 donation, a family member will receive a beautiful gold presentation booklet with a personalized certificate inside.

4. Use our Annual Membership of Prayer program in place of special occasion cards. For a suggested donation of just $5, your loved one will be added to our Sisters’ prayer list for one year, plus they will be sent the acknowledgment card of your choice.

5. Leave a Legacy — remember the Sisters in your will. Directly name the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Kirkwood, MO, in your will, and let us know. To thank you, you will automatically be added to our Perpetual prayer list.

6. Donate Stock for a possible tax break. Gifting securities or annuities to the Franciscan Sisters may provide tax advantages over donating cash. Ask your financial advisor.

7. Give “In Honor,” or “In Memory” of a loved one or “In Celebration” of a special event. Need a gift for someone who has everything? Celebrate their birthday or anniversary, promotion or retirement, by donating to the Sisters in their name. Want to memorialize a loved one in a special way? Let us know and we can send the acknowledgement to family members and include them in prayer. You may even be able to deduct the gift from your taxes. (Consult your financial advisor.)

From the porch of the Sisters’ Tau Center in Kirkwood, MO, (left to right) Sisters Connie, Regina, Mary Kathleen, Ellen, Mary Jane, Stephanie, Rosalie, Mary Anne, and Cheryl, ask for prayers for the more than one million people in the United States alone who have lost their lives to Covid-19. We also remember all the families who are mourning the death of loved ones, the time lost with relatives and friends, and the many mental and physical tolls Covid has taken on survivors and caregivers.

A Prayer to Our Mother of Perpetual Help

O Mother of Perpetual Help, we kneel before you and consecrate ourselves to your protection. Since that historical moment, when our three Mother Foundresses dedicated the new Community to Our Lady of Perpetual Help, we have felt the security of your constant intercession and care for us during these years of growth and in commitment to the work of God.

The Community dedicated to your protection has found in you, Mother of Perpetual Help, a source of hope and strength in difficulties and tribulations.

Look down upon us today and intercede for each of us that we may be spiritually renewed and strive toward a life of greater holiness according to our Constitution. Help us to change our ways, to live in greater Christian charity, and to imitate your virtuous life. We call upon you today to guard us from rejecting spiritual values in preference to material pleasure and satisfaction. Watch over us in times of temptation that we may remain loyal to you and your Divine Son.

O Mother of Perpetual Help, we, the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, dedicate our lives, our hopes, and our dreams to your loving care. Keep us mindful of your care for us as our Patroness. Keep us faithful to your vows and to the ideals of our Mother Foundresses. May we be sustained through your intercession and helped in our loyalty to the Church and to the Holy Father. May the adaptations we make tend to strengthen our spiritual values and our Community life. Help us to grow in loving concern for each other, in supporting those who are suffering because of sickness, sorrow, or spiritual crisis.

Mother of Perpetual Help, be our loving Mother and Patroness, in the future as you have been in the past. Stay with us, Mary, in darkness and doubt. Draw us closer to your Divine Son. And, Mary, when day is done, and our life is coming to an end, be near to comfort and fortify us for the final journey.

This is your Community. O Lady of Perpetual Help, keep it in your care that it grow fruitful in the works of the Church and in continuity of good membership. Obtain for us the grace of perseverance and the courage to live as worthy members of the Franciscan Sisters of Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

Amen
